About Quality in Brass Beds.

There is a world of difference in Brass Beds. It's all a matter of quality.

And speaking of quality you will naturally think of the Adams & Westlake Company of Chicago. World's Fair medalists and first prize holders, whose product is world famous.

There isn't anything in the way of Brass Beds that will compare with the beds of the Adams & Westlake Company. Chiefly, that's the reason we control these beds for this section of the country. You will find them only here.

The new styles include many details from the conventional in these ultra-modish beds. Patterns and designs which represent the very best attained in the designer's and producer's art.

You are invited to see the very large display of Brass and Boudoir Tinted Beds on our sixth floor.

DEATH OF DR. COUES

Distinguished Scientist and Man of Remarkable Gifts.

STOOD AT HEAD OF ORNITHOLOGISTS

The Author of "Key to North American Birds."

SKETCH OF HIS CAREER

Dr. Elliott Coues died yesterday afternoon at the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, where he had gone for treatment. His death was unexpected to many in the immediate circle of his acquaintances, and the announcement was a painful shock to the large number who admired the man and who had respect for his eminent attainments as a scientist and historical writer. Last summer was spent by Dr. Coues in Arizona and New Mexico, he having accompanied an expedition to that section of the country, which was in charge of Dr. F. W. Hodge of the bureau of ethnology. It was at that time that Dr. Coues became aware of internal trouble. His condition rapidly grew worse, and while on his return east he was taken sick in Chicago and remained there for some time.

Upon arriving at his home in this city, and acting under the advice of his physician, he determined to go to the Johns Hopkins Hospital and have an operation performed. He had been in the hospital about a month. At the time of his death Mrs. Coues, who accompanied him when he left his home in this city for Baltimore, was at his bedside. No arrangements for the funeral have as yet been made, but it is expected the remains will be brought to his late residence in this city, No. 1726 N. Street northwest.

Man of Remarkable Gifts.

Dr. Coues was a man of remarkable gifts, and his brilliant versatility was a source of surprise even to those who knew him well. He stood without a doubt at the head of the ornithologists of this country, and his key to North American birds, which was published in 1876, is regarded as authority on that subject. It is a book that through several editions, and at the time of his death he was engaged in bringing out a new edition. It may be mentioned as rather an unusual feature of scientific books that this work was a source of steady income to the author.

Having studied medicine as a naturalist, some ten years ago he turned his attention to historical work, and in this domain performed a valuable service in making available much material that was still in manuscript. At the same time he did not lose his interest in scientific subjects, and he found time to write for the periodical press, contributed book reviews for the Nation, and was one of the editors of the Century Dictionary, and in connection with Dr. Theodore Gill, up to a few years ago was the editor of the Osprey, a journal devoted to ornithology.

He devoted a great deal of time and study to the science of geology, and as a result became interested in theosophy, and was looked upon as the head of the society in this country. A couple of years ago, however, he withdrew from the organization, and had no further connection with that cult. He had enormous capacity for work and facility in acquiring new knowledge, so that he was able to do a great many things and to do them well.

He was a great reader, and could converse entertainingly and with knowledge on almost any topic. It was a constant cause of wonder to those who came in contact with him that he knew so much and knew it so thoroughly.

Sketch of His Career.

Dr. Coues was born in Portsmouth, N. H., September 9, 1842, and was graduated from the Columbian University in this city in the year 1861. A year later he entered the United States army as medical cadet and in 1864 was made assistant surgeon, which rank he retained until his resignation, November 17, 1881. He had received the brevet of captain for meritorious services during the war, and in 1866 was post surgeon at Chautauque, S. C. He was elected professor of zoology and comparative anatomy at Norwich University, Vt., in 1869, and from 1873 to 1876 was surgeon and assistant surgeon at Fort Snelling, Minn. In 1876 he was appointed professor of biology in the Virginia Agricultural and Mechanical College, and was a member of the United States Geological Survey, having been elected in the year 1877, and was a member of many scientific societies in this country and in Europe. He was a member of the American Ornithological Union, the American Association of Geographers, the American Society of Naturalists, the Theosophical Society of India.

He was a voluminous writer, and contributed largely to scientific periodicals. He was a member of the American Ornithological Union, the American Association of Geographers, the American Society of Naturalists, the Theosophical Society of India.

Devoted to Research.

As stated above, practically the last decade of his life had been devoted to historical research. In 1880 he brought out a new edition of the Journals of the Lewis and Clark expedition, which was sent out under the direction of President Jefferson, and traversed the western part of the country as far as the Columbia river, in Oregon. Dr. Coues supplied exhaustive notes and for the first time traced exactly the route of that important expedition. Two years later he brought out the new edition of the expedition of Gen. Zebulon M. Pike, who, in 1806, went to the headquarters of the Mississippi river and thence south.

Dr. Coues then began the publication of what was called the American Explorer series, the first number being the Journal of a fur trader in the upper Missouri, and the second volume a Journal of another fur trader, both of which up to that time had been in manuscript. At the time of his death he had in type and ready for publication, with the exception of the index and the preface, the diary of Father Groux, a missionary in Arizona, who, in 1776-76,

Special Reductions on Fur.

Beginning tomorrow morning we inaugurate a special Fur sale, which possesses extraordinary significance through the fact that the prices on every garment in stock (not one reserved), including Capes, Coats, Collarlets, Muffs, etc., are materially lowered. This sale should attract the attention of all lovers of furs and good dressers, as it includes Alaska Seals, Persian Lambs, Finest Minks, etc., and everything is exceptionally cheap as now priced, cheaper probably than they ever again will be, as good furs are very scarce and prices are soaring skyward.

Reductions on Tailor-Made Suits.

Those who have put off buying the new man-tailored gown for various reasons may now rejoice, as the opportunities this sale affords are indeed rare, and such as only come but once or twice a year.

At $16.00 Women's Tailor-made Suits of Cheviots and Homespuns. In the season's latest and best styles. The jackets are lined throughout with taffeta silk; skirts are lined with best quality taffeta. These Suits are tailored in superior manner, and command considerably more than the present price of $16.00.

At $19.75 At this price you may choose from the highest grades of Cheviot, Serge, Homespuns and Venetians, tailored in superior manner. Jackets and skirts are lined throughout with best quality taffeta silk. The styles are chic and dashing and include many that will reign with increased popularity the coming spring.

At $24.85 Women's Tailor-made Suits of highest quality Venetians, Cheviots and Homespuns, tailored in a manner almost impossible to excel. Jackets and skirts are lined throughout with very best quality taffeta silk. The styles, of course, are the newest. These Suits are worth $35.00, and are not bettered in workmanship or finish by any garment commanding $30.00.

The Tailor-Made Jackets at $11.50, Worth from $15 to $22.50.

We believe these to represent the very best value we have ever given in Women's Jackets. The materials are kersey, in tan, brown, black and blue, also rough chevrons. Every jacket is lined throughout with either taffeta silk or guaranteed satin. All sizes from 32 to 46. That's the story in a nutshell. And the lot should find owners before store closing time. Somebody is losing, but that isn't unusual at year-end clear-ups.

The Silk Waists at $6.85, Worth from $11.50 to $15.

It's very seldom that the opportunity presents itself to buy charmingly pretty and excellent quality Taffeta and Fancy Silk Waists worth from $11.50 to $15.00 for $6.85. Such is the bargain chance that is now open to you here. Each day new waists from the reserve stocks are added as the condition requires, thus freshness, large variety and best of the season's styles are as much yours today as when the sale opened. It's doubtful if a first-class dressmaker would put in the time and labor required by some of these waists for the price you are asked for the garment complete.

Sale of Imported Silk Waists, $19.75, Former Prices, $30 to $45.

These waists, as you would naturally suppose, are as fine as are to be found. They are the products of some of the world's best artists in this line. The lot is not very large, and every style is individual and different. This is indeed a tempting offer, and should be hastily availed of by lovers of finest dress.
